INTRODUCTION: TO THE TEACHER

VIDEO IN THE WORLD – AND IN THE CLASSROOM

Digital video has made a huge impact on all of our lives, both in the professional sphere and in our free time, because now videos can be made and shared through digital devices incredibly easily. New video genres are created all the time; videos go viral; and we can view videos on our smartphones, tablets, and laptops anytime. It is second nature now for students to see videos on platforms such as YouTube, social media, or news organizations – we are basically documenting our lives through the moving image. These days we communicate, socialize, do business, and learn, all through the medium of video.

“We are basically documenting our lives
through the moving image.”

English language learning is, of course, no different; many students now study online with learning management systems, download apps that help them in class or with studying, and even (for good or bad) choose a teacher they learn from on video chat.

For all these reasons, we expect to see video in our courses, and we expect to teach with video. But why is video so important in the first place?

THE IMPORTANCE OF VIDEO

Video is an immersive and immediate medium, and nearly all learners respond well to its inclusion in class. Younger students, who are used to such visual stimuli from an early age, often find it especially engaging and motivating. Because people connect to visual content more immediately than to written text, video can be a perfect vehicle for fostering critical thinking, intercultural awareness, and other life skills. Similarly, information transmitted by visual media can be more memorable for students, and viewing images can ease the perceived cognitive challenge of learning the language.

DIFFERENT WAYS TO USE VIDEO

When video was first introduced in language classrooms, it was largely exploited in the same way as audio. Students would watch a clip and use it as a model for their spoken output or as a way of acquiring new grammar or vocabulary in context. This can be referred to as using video for language focus.

Subsequently, video was employed for other kinds of skills practice such as listening. Indeed, answering comprehension questions based on a video transcript has remained a very popular task type to this day. Closed-answer questions (e.g., true/false) may be useful, but including open-ended questions as well offers more opportunities for students to negotiate meaning.

While these are still valuable ways to exploit the form, there are other roles that video can play. For example, focusing on visual stimuli can be an interesting alternative. For basic level learners, this could take the form of a simple visual memory test in which students have to recall everything that they saw in the clip or check appropriate boxes. For more advanced learners, students could order the visual images, create a narrative based around them (which they could then role play if necessary), or have discussions or debates on the information in the video. Whatever the task, the idea is that students are engaged only with the visual content. This works well with students who are more visual learners and who often do not respond well to standard language-based tasks. Another advantage of this approach is that students take a more active role rather than passively answering questions.

Focusing on the visual aspect of video material can be very straightforward. For example, you could ask students to watch the clip without sound or subtitles or to freeze-frame a clip and ask students to describe what is going on or hypothesize about what will happen next. Working with “image only” also means that students can create their own dialogues based on body language, for example, and then compare that with the original.

Of course, these pedagogical uses – language focus, skills practice, visual stimuli – are not mutually exclusive. They can be combined easily in a longer task sequence that involves different activities. For example, one possible sequence could start with comprehension work, moving on to active response questions based on the visual elements, and then to a review of key vocabulary items that appear in the clip.

Finally, video can be used as a resource. In this case, the focus is purely on the content of the clip, and there is no language agenda. Such an approach is useful for a Content and Language Integrated Learning (CLIL) framework, as well as in a “flipped learning” scenario, where students can watch video material at home and then come prepared to work with it in a subsequent face-to-face class. This use of video has multiple benefits: it can make homework seem attractive, it saves classroom time, and it can allow for more interaction in class.

BUILDING ADDITIONAL SKILLS: VISUAL LITERACY

With our society becoming more dependent on the visual image, it is important to bear in mind the importance of visual literacy as a skill to be developed with students. Following is a framework of how this can be incorporated in a practical way into task design.

Essentially, we can view all images from three clear dimensions: affective, compositional, and critical. Affective questions ask students how the video made them feel, if they could identify with a particular character, if the clip was positive or negative in nature, and so on. Compositional questions focus on the cinematic elements that the student can see: for example, how the clip is framed, if there is any text that accompanies the image, and from what point of view the clip was shot. Finally, the critical dimension would focus on questions such as: What message does the video transmit? Who created it? For whom? For what purpose?

This three-pronged framework may be helpful when working with any moving images, especially for creating your own questions about videos that you find online and want to use in class.

AUTHENTICITY: THE IMPORTANCE OF LEVEL AND GENRE

Video is generally well received in the classroom, but what kind of material will get the best results? Generally speaking, authentic videos – videos that students might watch themselves – are hugely beneficial to learners because they bridge the gap between the classroom world and students' lives outside of class. However, if you are going to use authentic material, think carefully about how much listening comprehension is required on the students' part. It may well be too challenging in terms of language, length, context, or speed of delivery. If, however, the clip is visually rich and doesn't include too much difficult language, then it could be used for a variety of different purposes and levels. This is what is known as “grading the task, not the text.”

Combining authentic material with videos deliberately made for the classroom is a good strategy, though the balance will necessarily vary from level to level. From intermediate level and above, it's a good idea to incorporate more authentic material. At more basic levels, students require the support of more language-controlled videos. A happy medium, or “semi-authentic” material, can also work well. For example, an authentic clip could be used with subtitles or have a new graded voice-over in which more simplified language is used. In this way, students get the exposure to authenticity but in a more accessible format.

It is a good idea to choose topics that engage students' interest, using the types of clips that students might watch themselves outside of class. For example, if your students are older teens, then vlog (video blog) categories such as how-to videos, game walkthroughs, unboxing, react, or challenge videos are all genres that students would love. These videos could then become good models for your students' own video projects.

ENCOURAGING CREATIVITY: STUDENTS' OWN VIDEOS

There is a good chance that motivation and engagement will increase if students are given the chance to work with video in not just a critical but also a creative way. By creative, we refer to students' creative responses to a clip, but also to actually making their own videos and bringing them to class.

So, when using the video material in EVOLVE, consider ways in which the activities can be expanded upon by getting students to produce their own videos. For example, when an EVOLVE video shows an aspiring YouTube chef, students could respond by using that clip as a model for their own favorite video recipes. This is also an excellent way to encourage group work. Students can collaborate to brainstorm ideas and structure, shoot, and edit the clip, with each learner adopting a different role – scriptwriter, actor, filmmaker, editor, and so on.

Once students have made their videos, it can be beneficial to show the videos in class. This allows for a good deal of discussion, evaluation, and peer learning, as well as a lot of fun!

Students now expect video to play an important role in class, but choosing the video content and deciding how best to exploit it can be tricky even for experienced teachers. I hope that this short introduction has provided you with some useful ideas and support to make the most of video in and outside of class.

ABOUT THE EVOLVE VIDEO RESOURCE BOOK

EVOLVE

EVOLVE is a six-level American English course for adults and young adults, taking students from beginner to advanced levels (CEFR A1 to C1). Drawing on insights from language teaching experts and real students, EVOLVE is a general English course that gets students speaking with confidence. This student-centered course covers all skills and focuses on the most effective and efficient ways to make progress in English.

What makes EVOLVE special?

- Peer models and content from real students.
- Bite-sized learning and mobile phone activities for inside and outside the classroom.
- Dedicated speaking lessons based on immersive tasks.
- Integrated teacher development in the Teacher's Edition.

The EVOLVE Video Resource Book with DVD supports the course and brings a fresh context to the language presented in the Student's Book.

THE EVOLVE VIDEO TYPES

The EVOLVE Video Resource Book with DVD offers two types of video to provide contextualized use of the language in the Student's Book and engage students' interest.

DRAMA

These delightful fictional episodes feature a cast of four main characters in relatable situations. The scenarios show clear, natural models for the target language from the Student's Book and provide a view into culture and everyday life in North America. Humorous and compelling storylines enhance student engagement and provide springboards for discussion. Each video is 3 to 5 minutes long.

DOCUMENTARY

These nonfiction videos use dynamic visuals and level-appropriate voice-over narration to bring target language from the Student's Book to life. They extend the theme in the Student's Book in new directions, allowing students to use and personalize the language they've learned in new contexts. The videos cover a range of thought-provoking nonfiction topics, including travel, human interest, and science. Each video is 2 to 3 minutes long.

The EVOLVE Level 1 Video Resource Book with DVD contains 18 videos. The following chart shows which videos correspond to each unit of the Student's Book. There are two videos each for Units 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, and 12.

Student's Book Unit	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12
Drama	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Documentary		✓		✓		✓		✓		✓		✓

EVOLVE VIDEO RESOURCE BOOK

The EVOLVE Video Resource Book, for use by teachers only, contains photocopiable worksheets and teaching notes for each of the 18 videos.

WORKSHEETS

The video worksheets focus learners' attention and enable students to get the most out of their video lesson.

- The Before you watch section activates students' schema and previews and reviews key language in the video. It often includes a guessing or prediction task to build students' ability to predict or guess what will happen in the video.
- The While you watch section scaffolds and supports student understanding of the video. Learners complete comprehension activities, notice key language, and practice their critical thinking skills.
- In the After you watch section, students react to the video content and consolidate the target language with communicative, personalized activities. Students practice their critical thinking skills and connect the videos' content to their lives and the world around them.

If you wish to add supplementary tasks, the timing of these activities is all-important. Always bear in mind when you want the learners to carry them out. As a general rule, establish the purpose of the tasks prior to viewing, but don't overload the students while they are actually watching.

TEACHING NOTES

The teaching notes (two pages) for each video provide clear, step-by-step instructions for teaching with the video and the accompanying worksheets. Answer key boxes for each exercise make checking answers easy. A short paragraph summarizes the video's content, while the Language summary provides a list of the topics, functions, grammar, and vocabulary from the Student's Book that are used in the video.

VIDEO SCRIPTS

Full video transcripts in the back of the book can be used for reference or as springboards to your own classroom activities, such as role playing, cloze activities, and language focus tasks.

MONDAYS AND FUN DAYS

Story summary

It's Monday morning, and Noemi and Rick are beginning a normal work week in their office, Rick's family's printing business. Rick offers Noemi coffee, then goes upstairs to his office. We then see a series of split-screen snapshots of their day, with times labeled onscreen, that contrast their two work styles. At 5:50 on Friday, Rick comes downstairs and asks Noemi if she wants to go with him to the Friday night food trucks. She's tired and declines, but she says they are going to see each other – and Eduardo – tomorrow.

Story summary

Noemi and Rick go to meet Eduardo in front of a park in New York City. They realize that Eduardo said to meet him at “the taco place.” He texted Rick a photo of it – but didn’t give the name or address. Noemi asks a woman walking by if she knows of a taco place nearby. She doesn’t. Noemi then stops a man, who gives her directions. Eduardo appears, surprised to find them at the park. Then they leave for the restaurant.

DO YOU LIKE NATURE?

Documentary summary

The video shows the natural features of three very different places: Iceland, Easter Island, and Antarctica. It opens with shots of cities – Mexico City and Honolulu – and beaches. We then see Iceland – its vibrant capital city of Reykjavik and the natural wonders of the country, such as volcanoes and waterfalls. On Easter Island we see beaches, mountains, and the famous giant statues. In Antarctica we see icebergs, huge frozen fields, and animals like penguins, seals, and whales.

5 STEPS TO LEARN A NEW SKILL

Documentary summary

This documentary explores the five steps to learn a new skill: (1) Choose a small goal, (2) think about what parts of the skill are most important to learn, (3) find time to practice (in the morning and again at night), (4) think about how to practice (practice in different ways), and (5) practice for at least 20 hours. The narrator gives examples of each step and explains why they help with learning skills.

Eduardo Yeah, it's 3B.

Rick OK. 3B.

Manager Yeah?

Eduardo Hello. I'm Eduardo. I'm here for the apartment. Apartment 3B.

Manager OK. Come in.

Manager OK, so you're Eduardo?

Rick No, I'm Rick. This is Eduardo.

Eduardo I'm Eduardo. Nice to meet you, sir.

Manager OK. So the apartment is for you, Eduardo?

Eduardo Yes, it's for me.

Manager OK. Spell your last name, please.

Eduardo It's S-O-U-S-A. Sousa.

Manager Oh yeah? My mother is a Sousa.

Eduardo Really? Is she from Brazil?

Manager No, she's from Brooklyn.

Eduardo Oh.

Manager And your phone number?

Eduardo Sure. It's 917-555-2650. Uh, it's 2650, not 2651.

Manager What? Oh. OK. Sign here.

Eduardo This place is great! Thanks! OK! Let's go!

Noemi Hey, Rick! And Eduardo – hey!

Christina Well, how's the new apartment?

Eduardo Great!

Rick Yeah, it's cool.

Noemi Cool! Let's see it.

Eduardo Yeah. Hey ... Oh, no!

Christina What?

Eduardo My key!

Rick Ha!

Eduardo Ah, thanks, Rick.

Christina Hahaha! Come on.

Episode 2: Great people

- Eduardo No, sorry, she's not Carolina. She's Eva.
- Rick Yeah, Eva. From college.
- Eduardo Right, yeah.
- Rick Wow! She's beautiful.
- Eduardo Hey, watch it, man! She's my sister!
- Rick OK. OK. Sorry. So, um, where is she now?
- Eduardo Why?
- Rick I, um...
- Eduardo She's in Brazil.
- Rick Oh. Too bad. And are they your parents?
- Eduardo Yeah, this is my mom, but she's with my Uncle Sergio in São Paulo. Uh, THIS is my dad.
- Rick Wow! Nice photo. What is it?
- Eduardo Ha! A family party in Florida – my grandpa's birthday. My grandparents live in Miami.
- Rick Wow! You have a big family! Is he your grandpa? How old is he?
- Eduardo He's 80! His birthday is July 4th.
- Rick Cool! His birthday AND the birthday of the United States.

- Eduardo Yes. The second bedroom is small.
- Noemi And you have very cool furniture!
- Rick Eduardo and his furniture...
- Eduardo Hey! What do you mean?
- Rick Well, for example, this couch. Wait ... is it a couch?
- Eduardo Yes, it's a couch!
- Rick Haha. But look! It's also a bed.
- Eduardo And this... it's three coffee tables. And it's two chairs and a table!
- Rick See, Noemi! Eduardo and his furniture ...
- Noemi Yes, I see.
- Eduardo Coffee, Noemi?
- Noemi Uh, no, thanks.
- Eduardo Soda? Juice? Water?
- Noemi Yes, OK. Water, please. Thanks, Eduardo! – Eduardo's funny.
- Noemi Hello? Hello? Oh, hi, Christina. Yeah. It's apartment 3B.
Uh, 3B, right?
- Eduardo Yeah, it's 3B.
- Noemi OK, see you soon. It's our gym day.
- Eduardo Gym day?
- Noemi Yeah.
- Rick Christina's a dancer, right?
- Noemi Yes and no... Oh! She's here.
(sound of cats screeching and Christina running down the hallway)
- Christina Akkk! Cats!
- Eduardo Oh, Christina! Are you OK?
- Christina Yes.
- Eduardo Coffee?
- Christina Yes, please.

Episode 4: I love it

Christina Ugh.

Noemi Hey, are you OK, Christina?

Christina Yeah. It's my tablet. (sighs)

Noemi Here.

Christina Oh, great. Thanks, Noemi.

Noemi Sure. Do you use your tablet a lot?

Christina Yes, I do. All the time!

Noemi Really?

Christina Yeah! I use it here at the gym, at work, at home ...

Noemi Yeah? I don't have a tablet. I use my phone for everything.

(Noemi checks her phone)

Noemi Oh.

Christina What is it?

Noemi It's work. It's emails, text messages, voicemails ... It's work, work, work!

Christina Yeah, but phones are for fun things, too.

Noemi True. I use social media. And I like new apps.

Christina Yeah? What's your favorite?

Noemi Hmm, good question. Maybe Instagram?

Christina Oh, yeah. Well, my favorite app is this dance app. Look ...

Noemi Cool. You really like to dance, huh?

Christina I love it!

Noemi Great. And who is this?

Christina Oh! She's an amazing dance vlogger.

Noemi Dance vlogger?

Christina Yeah, you know, like a dancer with videos. I use this app every day. Her name's Tanith. She has great ideas. And she's a great dancer!

Noemi Cool!

Christina Come on. You like music! Let's dance!

Noemi Oh!

Noemi Wow! Great workout!

Christina Yeah, right? Hey! Let's post a photo!

Noemi Now?

Christina Yeah. Your first dance workout.

Noemi Ha! OK.

Noemi "My first dance workout with Christina!"

Christina Yay! And now Tanith is OUR dance vlogger!

Noemi Ha! OK then. Oh, look. Rick likes this.

Christina And look at his comment! "You're a dancer? You? Noemi?"

Noemi Very funny, Rick. ... Oh!

Christina What? Eduardo?

Noemi Yeah, Eduardo. He likes it, too.

Christina Very nice, Noemi. Oh! I have 10 text messages ... from my mom.

Noemi Sorry, what?

Christina Nothing. Come on. Time to go!

Episode 5: Mondays and fun days

- Rick Morning, Noemi. You're here!
- Noemi What? Oh ... hi, Rick. Yeah. Look at this!
- Rick Oh, boy. Yeah. Sorry. We have a lot of work this week!
- Noemi Uh-huh. Monday mornings are always bad. And Sunday mornings are always good.
- ...
- Rick Noemi? Noemi?
- Noemi Uh, what? Oh, yeah. OK, what else?
- Rick Coffee?
- Noemi Uh, not now thanks. OK.
- Rick OK. I'm ...
- Noemi Hmm? Oh, OK.
- Rick OK, Noemi! The printer is on!
- ...
- Rick It's Friday! Yay! What a busy week, huh?
- Noemi It's always busy, Rick.
- Rick But, hey, look ... Wow!
- Noemi Oh, thanks.
- Rick No, really. Wow. Thank you. My parents thank you! It's their business. It's not my business ... not really.
- Noemi OK. You're welcome. They're welcome.
- Rick But now it's six o'clock on a Friday. It's time for Friday night food trucks!
- Noemi Is it? I usually stop at 6, Rick.
- Rick Usually? I don't think so!
- Noemi OK. I hardly ever stop at 6 ... uh ... 7?
- Rick Seven, usually. So, Friday night food trucks?
- Noemi No, I'm sorry. Not tonight. I'm tired.
- Rick OK. Just go home. Go!
- Noemi OK! Good night, Rick. ... Wait! See you tomorrow, right? With Eduardo?
- Rick Sure! But not in the morning. I'm busy with ... something. Afternoon, OK?
- Noemi Uh-huh. OK. Tomorrow afternoon. I'm busy in the morning, too.

Episode 6: Zoom in, zoom out

- Rick OK. We're in the right place, right?
- Noemi Yeah, this is it. Look, there's the hospital. Oh, and there's the supermarket on the right ... and the movie theater on the left. So, where's Eduardo?
- Rick At the taco place.
- Noemi The taco place?
- Rick Yeah, Eduardo's "new" taco place.
- Noemi Well, where is it? Do you have an address?
- Rick Uh, no! No address. Just a text message from Eduardo. "It's a GREAT taco place."
- Noemi Wait. There's a photo of it!
- Rick What? Of the taco place?
- Noemi Yeah. A photo from Eduardo to you. And a picture of ... Ha! Look at you and Eduardo! At the Friday night food trucks, right?
- Rick What?
- Noemi You're funny.
- Rick What?
- Noemi You ... and Eduardo.
- Rick Ha! Yeah? He's funny ... and smart. I'm, well, boring! The printing business is my life.
- Noemi Ah, Rick. You're fine. You're not boring.
- Rick Thanks, Noemi. OK, where's this taco place?
- Noemi Let's ask someone. ... Excuse me, is there a taco place near here?
- Woman Taco place? No. There's a Mexican restaurant on Avenue A.
- Noemi Hmm.
- Rick Let's look at the photo again. Well, here's the taco place, but there's a tree in front of it. Oh, wait! There's a bookstore next to it. East Side Books.
- Noemi Great. Excuse me?
- Man Yeah?
- Noemi Sorry. Where is East Side Books?
- Man It's near here. Uh, it's that way.
- Rick It is?
- Man Yeah. Go one block. Then turn right.
- Noemi So go one block, then turn right.
- Man Yeah. But it's not open on Sundays.
- Rick It's OK. We want the taco place next to it.
- Man Oh, yeah. It's...
- All three "... a GREAT taco place!"
- Noemi Yes! Thank you!
- Man No problem. Have fun!
- ...
- Rick Hey, Eduardo! There you are.
- Eduardo Hey, guys! Why are you here in the park?
- Noemi We have your message about the taco place, but no name of the taco place.
- Eduardo Oh, sorry! The name ...
- Noemi It's OK. It's here, next to this bookstore, right?
- Eduardo Ah, yes! East Side Books. Great place.
- Noemi So, is it East Side Tacos?
- Eduardo Yes!
- Rick Come on! I'm hungry!

Episode 7: Now is good

- Christina (answering phone) Hi, Mom.
- Mom Oh, Chrissy! Hello! How are you, honey?
- Christina I'm fine, Mom.
- Mom What are you doing?
- Christina Well, I'm at work.
- Mom Oh, I'm sorry, is this a bad time to call?
- Christina No, no. ... Well, maybe. I'm finishing work for the day, and ... Oh! It's 6:15. Marina is waiting for me at dance class.
- Mom Oh, yes! My Marina! How is my granddaughter?
- Christina She's fine, Mom. But she is waiting for me.
- Mom Oh, yes, OK. Um ... I have one question.
- Christina Yes, Mom?
- Mom Are you making the photo album for your father?
- Christina Album? Uh, yes, I am. It's here ...
- Mom Oh, good! Do you have all of our photos from New York for the album? What a great time. Your father...
- Christina Uh, Mom. Marina is waiting for me. Call me in 20 minutes, OK?
- Mom Oh, yes, sure. Sorry, Chrissy. OK. Bye!
- Christina Bye, Mom.
- ...
- Christina (answering phone) Hi, Mom.
- Mom Hi Chrissy! Is Marina with you now?
- Christina No. I have a little time.
- Mom So, about the photo album for your father.
- Christina Yes. OK, Mom, I'm working on it. But there are hundreds of photos!
- Mom Photos of us? Photos of you?
- Christina Yes, and there are a lot of photos of Marina!
- Mom Good! We love photos of our granddaughter.
- Christina I know, Mom. But it's a lot of work.
- Mom But Father's Day is on Sunday. Oh! I have an idea! What about a small album with only the New York photos from last summer?
- Christina OK, so you don't want hundreds of photos?
- Mom No, honey. A "New York" album is fine.
- Christina Thanks, Mom. ... Oh, Marina is coming.
- Mom Oh, OK! Let me say hello.
- Christina Um, the bus is coming, too. Can we call you from home?
- Mom Sure. Fine.
- Christina OK, good. Talk to you later, OK?
- Mom OK, Chrissy. Bye-bye.
- Christina Bye, Mom.

Episode 8: You're good!

- Noemi Christina?
- Christina Hi, Noemi! Why are you here?
- Noemi My doctor's appointment this morning. It's near here.
- Christina No way! Are you OK now?
- Noemi Yeah. My back is a problem sometimes.
- Christina Oh, no! I'm sorry. Here. Please.
- Noemi So, what are you working on?
- Christina Well, I'm looking for help, you know, for all of ... this! There's a lot of work.
- Noemi Ha! Yeah.
- Christina What do you think?
- Noemi Hmm "can communicate," "can write well", "can work in a team", "can think of new ideas", "can speak other languages." Good start.
- Christina I think so. What do you think about Hank?
- Noemi Well, "Hank" can't write well!
- Christina Ha! OK, you're right.
- Noemi But he can speak three languages.
- Christina OK, who's next?
- Noemi Teresa writes well, but she can't work in a team. She doesn't like teamwork! Wow. Who says that?
- Christina Uh-huh. See? It's not easy.
- Noemi But wait ... what about this person?
- Christina Name?
- Noemi Robert.
- Christina OK. Robert. Can he communicate and write well?
- Noemi Yes, he can!
- Christina OK, Robert. What else can you do?
- Noemi Look! He's good with numbers.
- Christina OK, yes!
- Noemi And he plays the guitar.
- Christina Great! Not for this job, but it's a fun skill.
- Noemi I agree! So, ... Oh, Christina! It's late!
- Christina Oh, no! I'm sorry!
- Noemi No! This is fun, but work is calling ... well, Rick is calling. I have ten text messages from him. Oh, no. Ugh! I work all the time!
- Christina You can do a lot of things, Noemi, but you can't do everything.
- Noemi I know. But we have a lot of work right now. ... Ooh!
- Christina You OK?
- Noemi Yeah. My back! I need a break.
- Christina Yes, you do. Hey, tomorrow's Saturday. Let's meet for coffee in the morning and talk about it.
- Noemi Great. Bye.
- Christina Bye.

Episode 9: Places to go

- Christina Hey Noemi!
- Noemi Hi!
- Christina No gym for you today, huh?
- Noemi Not today! I'm thinking about vacations!
- Christina Good for you!
- Noemi Ugh! This phone!
- Christina You need a vacation ... from your phone!
Let me see here ... Las Vegas ... hmm, no.
You can use your phone there. Miami ... no, same problem ... A national park.
There's a good idea! Maybe ... the Grand Canyon? Yellowstone? Yosemite?
- Noemi Yeah, I don't know. They're far away, and I don't want a long trip.
- Christina OK. ... Where can you go near here?
- Noemi I have no idea.
- Eduardo Hey, you two!
- Christina Hi Eduardo. How's it going?
- Eduardo Great! What are you two looking at?
- Noemi Oh, some travel guides. I want to plan a vacation, but I don't know where to go.
- Christina She needs to go to a place with no phones.
- Eduardo No phones? Hmm.... Ha! I have the perfect place.
- Christina You do? Where?
- Noemi Is it near here? Can I drive there?
- Eduardo Yeah, it's near. And yes, you can drive. You don't have to fly. And it's about five hours by car from here.
- Noemi Oh, cool!
- Eduardo Yeah, the Adirondack Mountains. It's beautiful. There are forests and big mountains... I love it. I go every year.
- Noemi Ah, yes! It is really beautiful.
- Christina What about her phone?
- Eduardo Phones don't usually work there. But the hotels have phones ... for emergencies.
- Christina Really? OK, that's good. She's working too hard, Eduardo.
- Eduardo Yeah. I can see. Well, she can go to the Adirondacks, and her phone can stay at home.
- Noemi Wait! What? I can't do that!
- Christina Yes you can, Noemi.
- Noemi What is it, Rick? ... No, I'm not OK. I need a vacation!
- Eduardo You really do, Noemi.
- Noemi OK, OK. Maybe the Adirondacks.
- Christina Yes ... and no phone.
- Noemi Eduardo!

Episode 10: Get ready

- Eduardo Noemi?
Noemi Eduardo?
Eduardo Oh, hey! Noemi!
Noemi Hi!
Eduardo So, how are your vacation plans?
Noemi Good. Good. I'm going to the Adirondack Mountains!
Eduardo Really? Great!
Noemi Yes. Thanks for the idea!
Eduardo I'm happy you liked it.
Noemi Oh, and my phone is staying home.
Eduardo Is it? Good for you.
Noemi Yeah. What else? Um... I'm going to stay in a small hotel.
Eduardo Nice. What else are you going to do?
Noemi Well, I'm going to sleep a lot, eat good food, and read books.
Eduardo Are you going to go outside, too?
Noemi Ha! Oh, yeah. I'm going to walk a lot, and sit outside in the sun, and read. Oh, and there's a lake! I'm going to go swimming, too.
Eduardo When are you going?
Noemi In October.
Eduardo Hmm, ... I don't think you can swim then.
Noemi Really?
Eduardo It's cold in the fall. It's not really good swimming weather then.
Noemi Oh. Well, that's too bad.
Eduardo Yes, but you can walk. Bring long pants – a sweater or two.
Noemi OK. What about boots?
Eduardo No, you don't need boots. A good pair of shoes is fine.
Noemi So the car trip is going to take about four or five hours, right?
Eduardo Yeah, but you can stop on the way, have lunch. I can give you the names of some great places.
Noemi OK, great. Thank you!
Eduardo So ... hey, do you know the food trucks?
Noemi In the Adirondacks?
Eduardo No, no. Here. In New York City.
Noemi Oh, yeah, you mean the Friday night food trucks?
Eduardo So, do you want to go?
Noemi Where? To the Friday night food trucks?
Eduardo Uh, yeah.
Noemi I can't.
Eduardo Oh, OK.
Noemi I mean, I can't this Friday. But I can next Friday! ...
Eduardo That's great!
Noemi Yeah!
Eduardo So, next Friday?
Noemi Great. But I'm going to see you before then, right?
Eduardo Yeah. At Christina's office? When is it again?
Noemi Tomorrow, 6 to 8 p.m.
Eduardo OK, cool.
Noemi Well, I'm done, so I'm going to go.
Eduardo OK. Uh, see you tomorrow, then.
Noemi Yeah, tomorrow. Enjoy your workout.
Eduardo Thanks.

Episode 11: Colorful memories

Eduardo Christina, hey.

Christina Hi, Eduardo! You're here!

Eduardo Yeah, sorry. I was at the gym near here. Am I early?

Christina Yeah, but it's no problem. There's a lot to do! We can start.
I have to get Marina in two hours. She's at a friend's house.

Eduardo So where are Rick and Noemi?

Christina Oh, they're coming from work.

Eduardo OK. Cool. ... Wow. There are a lot of things here. Where do I start?

Christina Um ... this one? Sorry about all of this. I need help!

Eduardo Oh, yeah. Noemi says you're getting an office assistant.

Christina Yes! He starts next week.

Eduardo OK, great! ... Ha! Look at this! Was this yours?

Christina Oh! My old phone! Yes, it was.

Eduardo Does it work?

Christina I don't think so.
(Eduardo throws phone into the trash)

Christina Hey! That was a good phone.

Eduardo In 2004!

Rick Hey, everyone! Coffee break!

Eduardo Mm! Great!

Rick Here's yours, Christina, and yours, Eduardo.

Eduardo Thanks! Now we're ready to go!

...

Christina So, this box is full of party stuff, from my old office. We had a lot of parties. Why do I have all these old things?

Rick That was my question.

Noemi What was this party about, Christina?

Christina That was a zoo party. We were all animals.

Noemi Oh, look! It's a cat!

Christina That was mine.

Noemi No way! You don't like cats!

Christina I know! It was funny. That was a great party! There were so many people.

Noemi Well, don't be sad, Christina! You can use all of this for another party. Maybe a party for Marina?

Christina Oh! That's a good idea.

Rick And what are these green things?

Christina Haha! I don't need those! I'll take this box home. Marina will love it. Oh, it's getting late. But we're done, so it's perfect! Thank you so much for helping me.

Noemi No problem. "Many hands make light work!"

Eduardo Yeah, but work makes me hungry! I'm going to get some dinner.

Rick Mmm, yeah. I'm coming with you. Noemi? Christina?

Noemi Sure. I'm in.

Christina Sorry, I have to get Marina. But next week, pizza for everyone!

All All right! Wow! Yeah! ...

Episode 12: Stop, eat, go

- Noemi Hey Christina! Are you OK?
- Christina Hmm? Oh, hi Noemi! I'm fine, thanks. But tired. Marina had a dance show at school last night.
- Noemi Yeah? How was it?
- Christina Great! She loves to dance. And she's good at it. Look. Here she is.
(Christina shows Noemi pictures on her phone)
- Noemi Aww, great! You're a good mom.
- Christina Thanks, Noemi. I needed that.
- Eduardo (approaches with coffee) And I needed this today!
- Christina Ha! Why, Eduardo? Late night?
- Eduardo Yeah, big soccer game. We played until 10:30. It was cool. And Rick was there. Hey, where is Rick?
- Noemi Hmm, I don't know. I texted him this morning but he didn't text back.
- Rick Hey guys.
- Noemi Oh! Rick! What happened to you?
- Rick Well, I had some takeout last night. I went after the game.
- Eduardo Ah ... late night takeout. It's never a good idea!
- Rick Yeah, the chicken was cold. And the sauce ... well, it was bad.
- Christina Then why did you eat it?
- Rick I was hungry!
- Christina What was in it?
- Rick The sauce? I don't know. It was white sauce.
- Christina So milk, butter, maybe eggs? Or was it the chicken?
- Rick Ugh. I don't want to talk about it.
- Eduardo But what was wrong with it? Was it the chicken? Or the egg? Haha.
- Rick I don't know. Well, maybe the egg. It was brown... or green.
- Christina Oh, Rick.
- Noemi Can you eat now?
- Rick No!
- Noemi OK. Would you like some water?
- Rick Maybe.
- Christina You need to eat simple food today – some rice and maybe a banana.
- Rick Uh, no rice, thanks.
- Christina OK, some crackers then.
- Rick OK. Crackers and bananas.
- Eduardo Well, I'm fine, and I want breakfast. What do they have? Two eggs, potatoes, toast, juice, coffee...
- Christina Eduardo!
- Eduardo Oh, right. No eggs. Sorry!
- Christina What would you like, Noemi?
- Noemi Um, how about a cheese and fruit plate? We can all share it.
- Rick Oh, no. You don't want to share with me.
- Eduardo Really, Rick? But you love to share food!
- Noemi And you love to cook! I know! Why don't you cook for us, Rick!
- Eduardo Great idea, Noemi. A dinner party! We can have it at my place.
- Rick You guys, I can't think about food right now.
- Eduardo OK. OK. Not tonight then.
- Rick Uh, no, not tonight, not this week.
- Eduardo Oh yeah, Rick, I almost forgot. My sister says "hi".
- Rick Really? Eva said hi? To, to me? Wow! Uh, well, say "hi" from me. Yeah. And say ... Ugh. I'm not feeling good.
- Eduardo I'm not going to tell her that!
- Rick Where's the restroom?
- Christina Over there, Rick!

Unit 2: A great person

Narrator Think about your family and friends. Who is a great person in your life? Why are they great?
Emily says:

Emily My name is Emily. I'm from Hong Kong. My brother, Jason is from Hong Kong too. But he lives in Australia now. He has a wife, two daughters, and two sons. One son is a baby. I'm their aunt! Jason is kind to his children. He's funny, and he's a great dad.

Narrator Ernesto says:

Ernesto My name is Ernesto. I'm twenty-two years old. My great person is my brother, Carlos. He's a doctor. He's twenty-nine years old. He's friendly... and very smart. Our family is from Mexico City, ... but we live in Oaxaca now. Oaxaca is great!

Narrator Elena says:

Elena My name is Elena. I am from Los Angeles. This is my friend, Trina. She's from Jamaica, but she's an American now. And this is our friend, Janelle. We're all teachers at the same high school. My friends are great. They are funny. They aren't boring!

Narrator That's a lot of great people! Who's a great person in your life?

Unit 4: Old and young technology

People use technology in a lot of different ways. They chat, post photos, listen to music, and send messages.

But what about different age groups? Do young people and "seniors" use technology in the same ways? A lot of young people own a smartphone, for example. And now, about 50% of seniors have a smartphone, too. But what do young people and seniors do on their smartphones?

Young people read their news online. They share photos ... and they use apps to chat with friends. Young people send and receive over 125 texts a day! But seniors send and receive fewer than 15 texts per day.

One thing that young people don't use their phones for is... to call people! But many seniors use their smartphones to call family and friends. They like to video chat to talk to – and see – children and grandchildren. It's a nice way to see family when they live far away.

Seniors also spend time playing online games. Card games... and puzzle games are very popular.

One big difference between age groups is social media. Over 75% of young people use social media. People over 65 use social media much less – only 40%.

Maybe young people have something to learn from seniors: it's not all about technology!

Unit 6: Do you like nature?

Do you like to be close to a city... or nature? A lot of beaches are close to the city. There are hotels ... and restaurants.

In Iceland, there are also cities close to nature. Iceland is a great place with many things to see and do. The capital city, Reykjavik, has interesting art museums ... and music festivals.

But Iceland also has amazing nature. There are volcanoes, hot springs, waterfalls, animals, and lots of great places for hiking and climbing. Iceland is also cold! But islands like Easter Island are not cold! Easter Island is in the Pacific Ocean. It's a long way from anywhere else ... but it has beautiful beaches ... and mountains. And it is famous for its giant statues.

And for more nature that isn't close to a city, what about... Antarctica! There aren't a lot of people here. In fact, there are usually only scientists. There are no cities, and no beaches. There are no trees, and not many plants or flowers. But there is snow and ice... a lot of snow and ice!

There are also beautiful animals such as penguins, ... seals, ... and whales. Antarctica is a real adventure! So where do you want to go next? A city, nature, or somewhere with a little bit of both?

Unit 8: 5 steps to learn a new skill

Skills are things we can or can't do, like snowboard, ... ride a bike, ... or speak another language.

Some people say it takes 10,000 hours to learn a new skill. That's practicing for an hour a day for 27 years! But there's good news. Other people say you can learn a new skill in just 20 hours! Here are five steps to learn any new skill.

1: What do you want to learn? Choose a small goal. For example, don't say, "Learn to fix things." Say, "Learn to fix a bike tire."

2: Think about what parts of the skill are important to learn? For example, to learn how to paint, you need to learn about colors. Or to learn how to make cool movies, you need to learn about cameras.

3: Find time to practice. It's important to practice every day! Choose the same time so you don't forget. In fact, it's good to practice in the morning, ... and again at night. Sleep helps your brain remember. It's almost like practicing again!

4: Think about how to practice. Practice in different ways. Do the same thing, but in a different way every day. For example, if you are learning a language, speak slowly one day... and more quickly the next. The more ways you learn the skill, the more your brain remembers.

And finally: Practice for 20 hours or more. Maybe you can't do something now, but with practice, one day, you can.

Unit 10: Street style

“Street style”: It isn’t just what people wear on the street. Street style is what people wear to really show their style. But is street style the same in every country? Let’s take a look around the world and see.

In Moscow, people wear coats, boots, and scarves. In Cameroon, it’s a dress and a scarf... but on the head. In the U.S., just a shirt and pants, and in Japan, well ... people wear lots of different things! These styles look different, but they have one thing in common: color!

Actually, on the streets of Harajuku in Tokyo, you can see all kinds of street style: ... from big sweaters over skirts ... to fun suits ... and everyday dresses.

In places like San Francisco, street style is very casual and often includes a beard, ... a hat, ... a backpack, and a bike. But you can see the same street style in Slovenia ... and Italy!

A lot of street style is in the details: hats in London, Moscow, and New York ... or Mexico.

Sunglasses, ... headphones, ... a bow tie, ... or a scarf... In every country, on every street, style is a little bit the same, and a little bit different. What’s the style on your street?

Unit 12: Why did they take that picture?

What’s the last picture you took? Your family? Your friends? Yourself? Your food?

Wait, you took a picture of your food? Really? Well, you’re not alone. Recent studies say about 75% of people take pictures of their food. But Why? Let’s find out ...

About 20% of people take pictures of food when they’re at a restaurant. Some people want to remember a special meal they ate. Karl and Cindy went a new restaurant last week. They liked their food and took a picture.

Dan went to Singapore last summer. He enjoyed eating at the night market, and he took pictures of the food he ate! He looks at the pictures so he can remember his trip.

About 22% of people take pictures of food at special events, like birthdays. Donna took this photo because it was her mother’s 60th birthday. They wanted to remember the night, their family, and the cake. And what family doesn’t have a funny food photo? Or two... or three!

And, finally, 33% of people take pictures of food that they cooked because they feel good about their cooking! Larissa took this video of a delicious breakfast she made. Then she posted it to her social media page. Some people, like Steve, like to cook so much, they have their own video show. Steve made this video to teach people how to make a salad for dinner.

People take pictures of their food to remember special events, ... to share online, ... or to show their cooking skills.

If you take pictures of your food, why do you do it?
